

Physician-Signed Work Excuse Documentation

Information for Employers and Human Resources Departments

WHAT IS NOTEFORWORK?

NoteForWork.com is a physician-founded asynchronous telehealth platform that provides legitimate, physician-signed work and school absence documentation for minor illnesses. Every note issued through our platform is reviewed and signed by a licensed, board-certified physician who holds an active, unrestricted medical license in the patient's state.

IS THIS DOCUMENTATION VALID?

Yes. A NoteForWork physician-signed note is a legitimate medical document equivalent to any note issued following a traditional in-person or video telehealth visit. Asynchronous telehealth is a recognized, legal form of medical practice in all 50 states.

Under the Ryan Haight Online Pharmacy Consumer Protection Act and applicable state telehealth laws, asynchronous clinical review — in which a licensed physician evaluates patient-provided symptom information and issues a clinical determination — constitutes a valid patient encounter for the purpose of issuing work excuse documentation.

Every NoteForWork note includes:

- The reviewing physician's full name, state license number, and NPI
- The patient's name, date of birth, and state of residence
- The evaluation date and excused date(s)
- A unique QR verification code confirming authenticity

OUR PHYSICIANS

All NoteForWork physicians are:

- Licensed MD, DO, or NP
- Board-certified in their specialty
- Holding an active, unrestricted license in the patient's state
- Verified clean of board disciplinary actions
- Not excluded from Medicare or Medicaid
